AND THEY TWAIN SHALL BE ONE FLESH

Nothing could be more touching than the sweet peace and serene calm that possesses the New Mexico democracy now that it has clasped the Journal-Democrat to its palpitating bosom.

The position of the Democratic party and of Messrs. Fergusson, Hand, Jones and McGill on controlling public issues is the same now that it was on April 27 last, when the following editorial appeared in the Journal-Democrat.

H. B. Fergusson, J. D. Hand, A. A. Jones and W. R. McGill, who are insulting the New Mexico electorate at Washington by assuming to juggle with the constitution, now, it is said, seek only to force a separate vote on the changing of the amendment provision when the first state officers are elected.

The Morning Journal will be pleased to hear what amendment proposition these high-minded patriotic peasant politicians would like. It can't seem important on the part of the people who ratified the present constitution, but it does appear that it would be only fair for Mr. Fergusson et al. to take us into their confidence so far as to give us some idea of what they are going to do.

The word "no" has been overworked in this connection; the Morning Journal in regard to those who say the constitution is difficult or impossible to amend, has only pointed again to the facts and allow the public to draw its own conclusions as to the scruples, the fair play, the honesty, the patriotism, the political decency, the regard for the truth on the part of the men who are telling the country and congress that the constitution is not amendable.

The democracy, it has been alleged, was about to elect its regulars the action of Messrs. Fergusson, Jones, Hand and McGill. The democracy has not done so. The Morning Journal warns the leaders of the party that unless they turn down this dicty work and do so promptly they will never escape the obloquy and the approbrium and the shame of a deliberate attempt to delay statehood for the sake of a political trick.

field in Bernalillo county today, man for man, so far outweighs the hybrid diluteratic-Democratic ticket that comparison is useless.

The crowd assembled in the Elks theater was composed of the solid substantial business and working men of Albuquerque—men who are evidently alike to the interests of their city and county and of the new state.

Judge Mann declared nominations for first senator in order. E. V. Stafford held proxy for delegates from San Juan county and Alejandro Sandoval from Candelario county.

Francis E. Wood, in an eloquent speech, nominated for senator from Bernalillo, San Juan, Sandoval, Jose L. Perera. Received with great applause.

Seconded by A. A. Sedillo and E. V. Stafford of San Juan county in brief and forcible speeches, Mr. Perera was nominated unanimously and great enthusiasm.

At the conclusion of the nomination for senator the senatorial convention dissolved, and Temporary Chairman Craig called the county convention to order.

While awaiting for the committee on credentials to complete its report, Colonel Edward Johnson made a rousing Republican speech which was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

At the conclusion of Mr. Johnson's address, a speech was delivered by Hon. Geo. W. Armijo of Santa Fe, candidate for corporation commissioner, who was in the audience.
